Helen's fun in the sun!

That Miss Flanagan holidays her buns off in Dubai!

➔ WE'RE SURE the boss won't mind, but we're going to have to open up a Nuts office in Dubai, and we're going to have to do it soon.

Last week, we featured Jennifer Metcalfe frolicking in the emirate's fine surf, while past paddlers have included most of the lady TOWIE cast, and now here's the svelte and fragrant Helen Flanagan dancing through the foamy brine in Dubai in a bikini that can only be described as "minimal".

Still, while Helen tries to save the planet via her diminishing cotton consumption, we can thoroughly enjoy her doing it. Conservation, eh? Sexy!

"Come on, words, let's hit the bar! Mine's a piña colada!"

"Can you hold it
there, sunset?
I'm almost done!"

"Oops! I knew
I shouldn't have

Phil Jones spam!

The Man United player's gurning mug goes viral!

➔ LAST WEEK, Man City striker Sergio Aguero made Man United defender Phil Jones look like a bit of a ninny as he scored explosively past him. But this essentially pointless goal won't be remembered for Aguero's technique. Oh no. It'll go down in history for helping to create an internet sensation, as loads of fans took the opportunity to mock the silly face that Jones made as the strike went past him. A Twitter hashtag #TweetYourPhilJonesFace took hold, with tweeters posting their versions of his gurning mug. So we got our crack team of spam-makers on it...

The world's biggest flag!

600 metre sports banner covers most of South American football stadium!

JUST BEFORE

Uruguayan side Nacional took on Mexican side Toluca at the 65,000-capacity Estadio Centenario in Montevideo in the Copa Libertadores last week, this extraordinary thing happened.

Hundreds of fans queued up to deliver and unfurl the world's biggest football flag, a 600x50 metre rendition of Nacional's red, white and blue banner, it covered an area of 30,000m² and took fans half an hour to unfurl. They then presumably booed their team off at half-time, if they're anything like the twerps who attend Premier League matches these days.

30,000 SQUARE METRES!

"Finally, we did it!
Shame the game finished
ten minutes ago!"

"If this is the tablecloth, I can't wait to see the picnic!"

Banner facts!

- The 50m-high banner was almost seven years in the planning. Fans first came up with the idea back in 2006, after rival club Peñarol unveiled its own 15,000m² flag.
- Over 5,000 fans assisted in producing the flag, which took over 18 months to make and print.
- The club itself donated the cash to make this project happen. And it helped - Nacional thrashed Toluca 4-0!

Far Cry 3 Blood Dragon: First play!

Bonkers game download!

➔ FAR CRY 3 was a gaming highlight last year, so some downloadable content was a gimme. New maps or a mission pack were to be expected. Blood Dragon was not. A standalone download (you don't need Far Cry 3 to play it), it's a crappy '80s action movie as a game. It's fab, then, and available for consoles or PC from 1 May.

EIGHTIES POSTER POWER!

There's even a deliciously '80s-inspired movie poster for the game.

NEW HERO!

You play as Sergeant Rex Power Colt: "Part man. Part machine. But all cyber commando." A new breed of soldier who roams the radioactive ashes of North America.

VERY SILLY TUTORIALS!

A brilliant throwback to tacky 16-bit game tutorial missions, you start by button-bashing through silly on-screen prompts, like: "Press A to demonstrate your ability to read."

WISECRACKS!

Like all good '80s movies, violent kills are followed by a rubbish quip. Rex stabs a henchman, before proclaiming: "I gave you the shaft!" Funny, but technically inaccurate.

UNDERGROUND LAIRS!

The first mission sees you infiltrate an underground lair, then protect your sidekick as he hacks a mainframe, swearing like a Geordie Shore cast member throughout.

THE BLOOD DRAGONS!

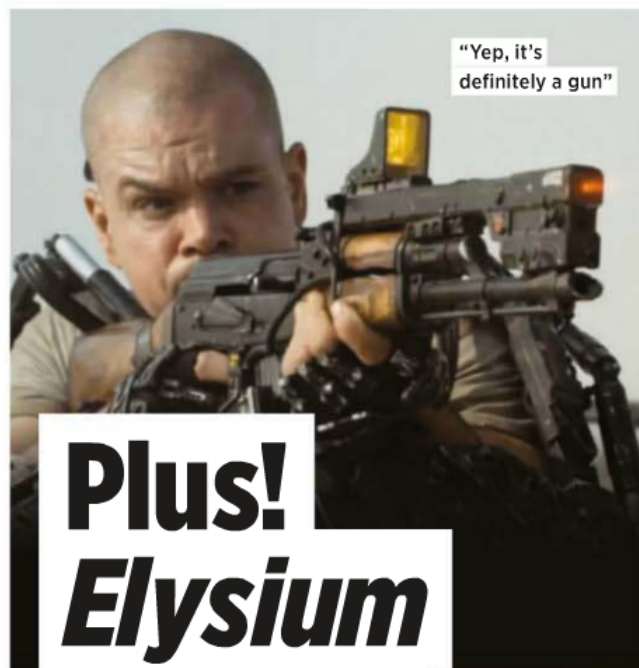

These invincible laser-toting lizards roam the neon-hued landscape. You marshal them towards enemies by baiting them with hearts pulled from vanquished cyborgs.

VERDICT!

This came out of the blue but is an absolute triumph. It layers a brilliantly silly look and story onto Far Cry's totally up-to-date game engine, so plays as well as it looks. Sold!

WORDS: RORY BUCKENRIDGE

"Yep, it's definitely a gun"

Plus! Elysium

First peep at sci-fi epic!

NEW ACTION flick Elysium sees
Matt Damon

breaking into an off-world utopia where poverty and disease has been eradicated. Add District 9's director and Sharlto Copley as a sinister assassin and what could possibly go wrong? We'll find out in August.

It was a very fancy torch

"Er, so that wasn't the door to the plane toilet..."

The footballers' chariot!

It's the all new Range Rover Sport!

- Footballers, meet your next car! Chosen by no fewer than 35 Premier League stars last year, the Range Rover Sport regularly tops the Nuts annual poll of footballers' top motors.
- Unveiled by Daniel Craig in New York, this new model is a more muscular, more handsome and leaner slice of Range Rover urban chic.
- The all-aluminium chassis yanks 420-513kg off the weight (depending on engine choice), bringing it down to 2.1 tonnes.
- It can still wade through the wet stuff up to 85cm deep, but new independent air suspension and alloy wishbones increases the Sport's cornering ability on windy roads in combination with clever continuously variable damping and active roll bars, which hold the body closer to the road.
- Engine choice is between two V6 diesels or a V8 petrol supercharged, with 7.1, 6.8 and 5.0-sec 0-62mph times respectively. The V8 is the fastest Range Rover yet.
- A more raked windscreen, wider grille and more curves improve aerodynamics. Add shotgun tailpipes, narrower glass and bloated arches and you can say it finally deserves the "Sport" badge.
- Inside, you'll find a 1,700W 23-speaker Meridian audio system and lots of touch-screen infotainment. And the price? A very footballer friendly £50k. Before over-elaborate modding, that is.

Simon, Alesha and Amanda on lap dances and going commando!

→ Hi, Britain's Got Talent judges! Simon, you're sporting a fetching sweater and glasses this series.

You're such a trendsetter!

Simon: I like to set fashion trends. It's something I've been doing for a long time. I don't know how I can go further.

Er, you could try putting on some underpants. Isn't it true that you like to go commando?

Amanda: Simon hasn't got time for underwear.

Simon: I'm not going to confirm or deny that now. You're the one who's known for not wearing knickers, Amanda.

Amanda: I can prove I'm wearing pants. Can you?

Simon: Go on then.

Amanda: [Pulls top of pants above trousers] See? Unsexy little pants.

Simon: That's not good.

Amanda: Now show me yours.

Simon: No, I'm not going to do that.

Amanda: Don't be shy.

Simon: Next question!

Are you worried people might get bored of BGT after seven series?

Simon: It's a good question. If you'd told me we'd be sitting here on season seven, I'd have pinched myself. I think the show is as much about people as it is talent. If you didn't know their back stories, the show would be boring. Everybody wants to be famous now. Last year it was the biggest show in the UK so I would put a pretty good bet on that this won't be the last series. But the day it starts becoming boring, trust me, we'll stop.

You've let contestants from all over Europe enter this series. Isn't that a bit traitorous or is Britain running out of talent?

Simon: When the talent is really good from another country, it makes you root for your own talent. We're part of Europe now and it's quite flattering that they fly all this way. A great act is still a great act. Britain just has to prove it can step up now.

Which acts have moved you most so far?

Alesha: The shadow puppets were emotional and beautiful and genuinely touching.

Amanda: I know I cry every year but every time I've seen it, I've wept.

Simon: We've had lots of good personalities. We've got lucky. And the stripper. She got me.

Amanda: [Punches Simon in the balls with microphone] Just here?

Simon: [Angrily] Don't touch my c*ck!

So, Simon, what was it like getting a lap dance from David Walliams?

Simon: Given the choice I would have kept him in the chair and just had the stripper. Alesha: That wasn't the only time he gave you a lap dance. There were a couple of occasions. In Glasgow...

Simon: When I do this show with him, I let him get on with it and expect the worst.

Does he ever push you too far?

Simon: Yeah, most of the day.

"I wish he'd just get off my leg"

Simon on David Walliams

My mum used to have a dachshund and every time we went round, the dog would hump your leg. It's that kind of relationship. After a while, I just wish he'd get off my leg.

How about the other judges? Do you ever have to edit bits out where you've egged on each other too far?

Amanda: Only stuff that nobody should be able to see.

Simon: It's Amanda's stuff we've have to cut out. We asked her to demonstrate how she'd eat a banana. I've got to tell you, it's one of the best pieces of TV you'll never see.

Amanda: [Showing off her rings] It's why I've got lots of diamonds. I've earned them!

Do you have any strange rituals before a live show?

Simon: I like to have a massage and a bath.

Amanda: We just get ready and make sure we don't clash!

Alesha: Gossip with the girls...

Amanda: Homes Under The Hammer, I love watching that.

Simon: I lock David out of my dressing room. I have security outside so he can't come in.

Are you watching The Voice? Got any advice?

Simon: Is it on? What channel? They've paid for it again? Wow.

Amanda: Look, there's a fence. Let's sit on it!

Simon: I think they should fix those chairs to stop them spinning round!

DAVID!

AMANDA!

Cowell relaxed at home

"Guys, the studio's on fire... guys... GUYS!"

Margaret Thatcher died recently. Did she have talent?

Simon: You don't get elected three times without talent. She polarised people but that's what people with talent do. Some people like you, some people don't. You can't win over everybody. But you don't win three times without talent.

Thanks, everyone. Lastly, who has the most irritating habits?

Simon: Amanda talks a lot about toilet humour.

Amanda: He doesn't like to know when I need a poo. He doesn't even understand the word "poo". So I really enjoy talking about my bowels because I know it upsets him.

Simon: I don't want to know!

Amanda: Simon does try to wind me up. He told me one contestant was pregnant, I had this full conversation with her, "Ooh, when's it due?" Another woman he told me used to be a man, so I went into that conversation.

Simon: Alesha has an issue with disabled people in the audience. In her words, they take up seats other people should use.

Alesha: That's not true! David and Simon spend the entire day trying to make me out to sound racist, homophobic or whatever. He's just not a nice human being really!

Man gets leg crushed to bits by car door!

→ YOU THINK your Christmas is always a washout? Then spare a thought for James Lee from Dorset, who was driving to his mum's house for Christmas dinner but didn't quite make it.

"I hit some water, which made the back end of my car slide out," explains James. "After doing several flips, I realised my leg was stuck in the hinge side of the driver's door!"

After an hour-and-a-half, James was finally cut free by firefighters. "It took five paramedics to hold my leg together while firefighters carried me to the ambulance on a stretcher."

James' leg will take about 18 months to heal. We hope his next-but-one Christmas is merrier than his last one!

Lesbian's a right flirt!

My sister is a lesbian and has recently started seeing a girl. Unfortunately, her new lady flirts with me. I enjoy the attention, and our naughty secret is a bit of a turn-on. Should I act on my impulses and do the dirty?

ANON West London

There are so many other hot girls in the world, you can do better than your sister's new flame. Keep the idea in your head and leave it as a fantasy. Once you've found a girl of your own, just remember you're making another girl jealous. It's the story you find a turn-on, not the girl.

about my Birmingham accent, which I know many perceive as unsexy. How can I get her going without speaking much?

BEN Birmingham

Forget the anxiety - girls love accents. Phone sex works well by asking things like, "What will you do to me?" or, "Would you do it in public?" Make her surrender to your questions and then go visit her!

Her pals drive me nuts!

I can't stand my girlfriend's pals. It's not that they're nasty - I just can't click with them. I find myself making excuses not to go out with her and it's affecting our relationship. What should I do?

IT'S SEREN

“Play hard to get, guys!

Hello Seren!
Welcome to Nuts!
 Hello! Thank you for having me. It's great to be here!

You have a very nice name...

Thank you! It's because I'm from North Wales. My full name is Seren Haf Gibson. My friends call me "Haf". It means summer in Welsh. My full name means "Summer Star".

Awesome! Are you excited to be shooting for Nuts?

Yes! I did quite a bit of modelling a few years ago, but now I just do the odd shoot on special occasions. You're very lucky to have me. Ha-ha!

Very lucky indeed. We feel like we've had loads of fit Welsh girls in the mag recently. Is there something in the water?

It's incredible! I'm very proud to be Welsh, and we do have some very pretty girls. I'm also very proud of the rugby team at the moment. I want [Wales fullback] Leigh Halfpenny to take me out for a drink.

Is he the sort of bloke you'd normally try to bag?

Maybe – because he's lush! He has those massive arms, and I have these massive boobs. We'd be a perfect match. That's the only reason I'm doing this shoot really, just to get this message out there to him. Or maybe Ryan Gosling. He's also fit.

You'll be pleased to know he's also in this issue!

Oh my God, that's ace! Why couldn't you have shot him at the same time as me? Ha-ha!

Sorry! So how could a chap impress you?

Charisma and charm. I like down-to-earth guys who don't feel the need to impress people all the time. If he takes longer to get ready to go out than I do, then we'd have problems. Play hard to get. I don't like blokes who put everything on a plate. That's so boring. I like a challenge. ▶

“I love running around with no clothes on!”

What would you be up to if you weren't doing this shoot today?

I'd probably be working in the fashion industry. That's my real passion. You could say I have a passion for fashion.

Perfect. In that case, can you give us some fashion tips?

A bloke needs a bit of stubble, a good shirt, a good pair of trainers and a beanie. Smart casual wins, every time.

What's your favourite thing about doing shoots like this?

I just love being naked. It's the truth. I love running around with no clothes on. It makes me feel liberated.

What do you think of fellow Welsh fittie Joey Fisher's massive boobs?

You said it – they're massive! She should be very proud of those. I'm slightly jealous, although I think mine are pretty nice, too.

What do you make of The Valleys? Are you lot all as bonkers as that?

It's a laugh, but overall I think it's a bad representation of Welsh people. We're better than that. I wouldn't do a reality show. I don't want to be known for something like that.

What would be your perfect first date involve?

I love being spontaneous. It would have to be something adventurous. Or we could just go for a long walk and see what happened.

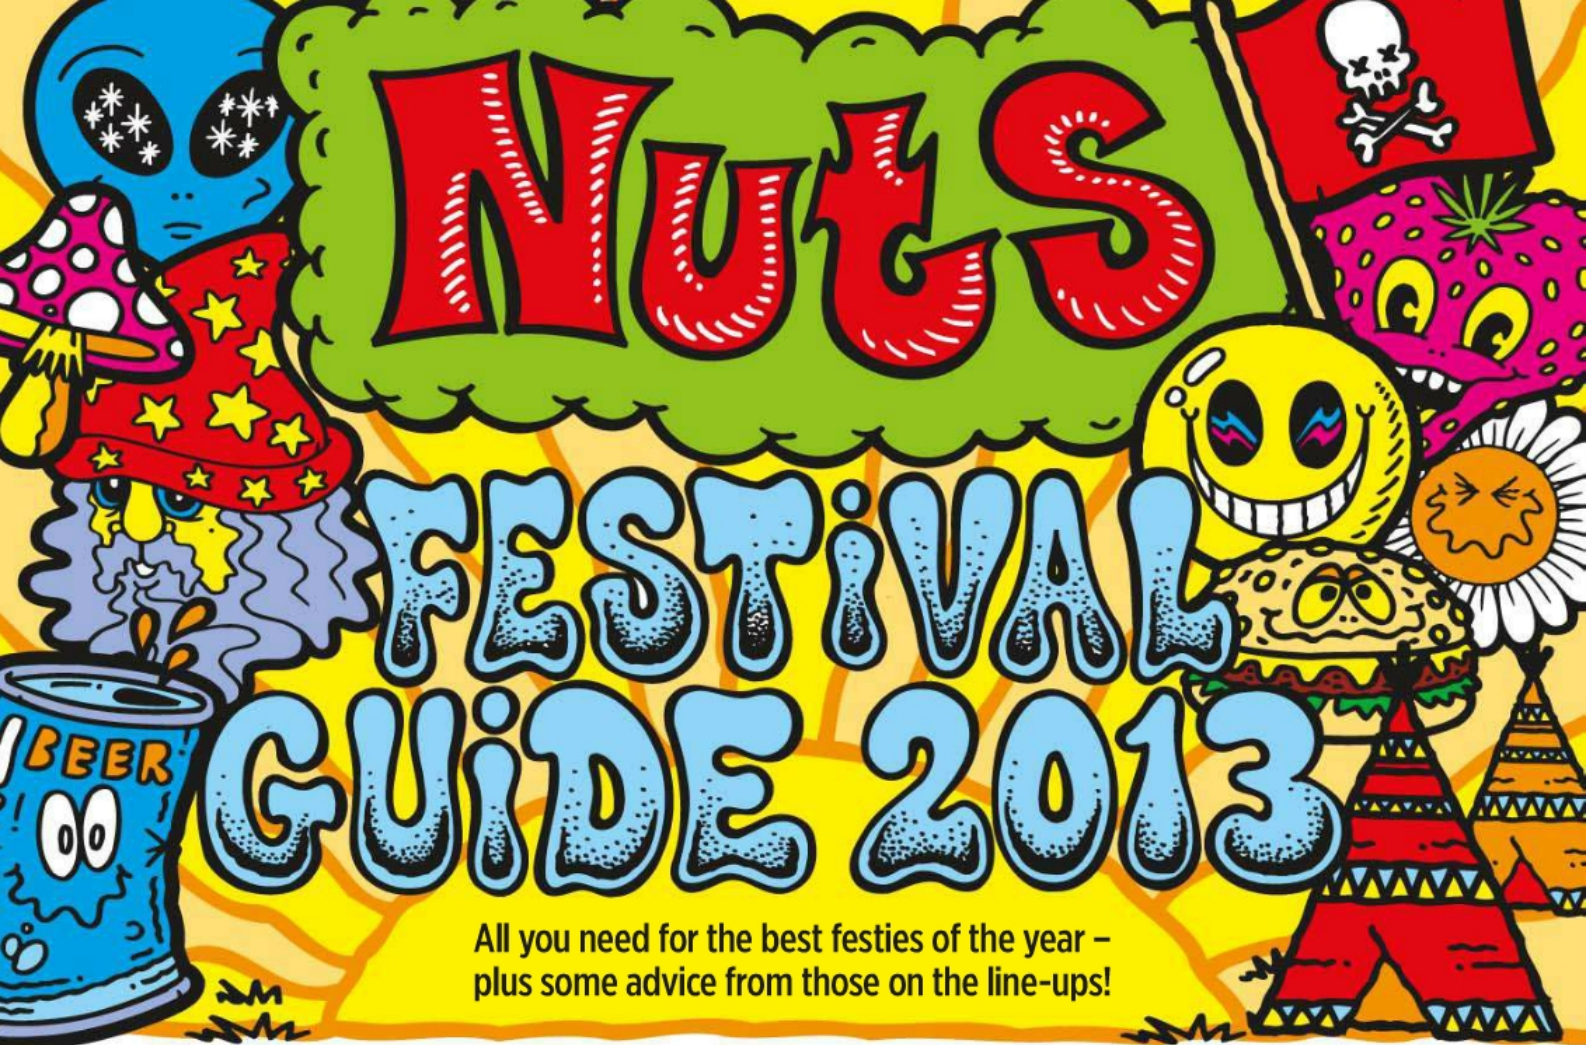

Do you have a girl crush?

Yes! Cameron Diaz is my number one. I forgive her for being blonde. Jessica Alba and Eva Mendes are also amazing.

Nice one! Ace to meet you, Seren. Finally then, Our festival special is in this issue... are you off to any exciting ones?

I'm going to one in America called Governors Ball. It's a huge deal over there, Guns N' Roses, Kings of Leon, Kanye West, Bloc Party... it's going to be fantastic!

ATTACK ON CAMP BASTION!

How two RAF
servicemen took on Taliban insurgents during a seriously
brazen attack...

ate last month, Sergeant Roy Geddes became only the second RAF serviceman to be awarded a Military Cross, while his comrade Corporal Kurt Lee was highly commended. The honours were for their incredible actions during an attack on Camp Bastion last year, which they now recall to Nuts.

THE ATTACK

As darkness descended on the Allied forces stronghold that September night, the unthinkable was happening. The base – until then thought to be impenetrable from all kinds of attack – had been breached by the enemy. On the east side of the compound, 15 Taliban insurgents had scaled a wall dressed in army fatigues and were wreaking havoc. Armed with grenades, AK47s and rocket launchers, the insurgents had set about destroying the landing area where millions of pounds of US aircraft were housed.

Into the firefight sprang an RAF response crew, headed by Sergeant Geddes, who led his team into the conflict on a Ridgeback armoured vehicle. Speaking exclusively to Nuts, Geddes recalls, “The only thing that you could see was the burning aircraft – they had totalled five Harrier jets and a load of fuel areas, so you can imagine the extent of the fire. You have no idea of the number of the enemy at that point. I made ready every weapons system we had and remember saying to the lads, ‘We’ll be using these very soon.’”

UNDER FIRE

By now, the insurgents had split themselves into three groups to avoid detection and attempt to draw Allied fire against each other. Although engaged by US personnel and helicopters, the insurgents were able to turn fire on Geddes’ advancing team – hitting their vehicle with an RPG (rocket-propelled grenade), and wounding eight of them. Geddes himself was badly injured, but kept his focus on stemming the enemy attack and getting his casualties to safety.

“I thought we were getting mortared at first. You see the explosions, the tracer fire zipping around. The enemy are putting RPGs into us, but you just shrug off any injury you have. My main concern was extracting any casualties we had – some we had to extract on foot across 400 metres.”

Elsewhere, RAF Corporal Kurt Lee, asleep on his day off, had also answered the SOS. He arrived in the conflict zone almost the same time as Sergeant Geddes and was confronted with enemy fire. He tells Nuts, “I was told to get in a vehicle, get as many men as I could find and get across to the airfield. I could hear Sgt Geddes’ voice – that’s all I could hear. I just wanted to get there and help.”

Taliban soldiers had set fire to fuel reserves

Sgt Geddes was awarded the Military Cross

But to get to their aid and repel the invaders, Corporal Lee’s team faced a series of problems. “The only route we knew into it would have taken us straight into the line of fire with Sgt Geddes and the enemy. We would instantly have been fired upon. We had to figure out a safe way into combat.”

AMBUSH

Reaching a fortified bunker (which Allied troops would ordinarily be using to defend the camp, but had now been taken by the enemy), Lee’s men moved toward the rear end of it – unaware of even more danger ahead. “What we thought was a solid wall was actually a camo net pulled taut, with the enemy behind it. Two grenades were thrown out which landed at the feet of myself and the officer behind me. Luckily, I escaped with lacerations to the leg.”

Despite being injured, Cpl Lee cleared the enemy bunker using the best weapon he had. “It was very close to the enemy. I was using an underslung grenade launcher from less than 14 metres away. You’re just thinking, ‘I need to do something now to save myself and everyone else.’” In the four-hour firefight, 14 insurgents were killed and one captured. Two US Marines were killed, but – despite multiple injuries – all British servicemen escaped with their lives.

In last month’s ceremony at Sandhurst Royal Military Academy, Sergeant Roy Geddes was awarded the Military Cross – a medal given in recognition for exemplary gallantry against the enemy on land. Reflecting on his honour, Geddes tells us, “I was shocked and stunned. The award isn’t just for me, it was for my team. Each of them performed incredibly. Even the casualties were still doing their bit. It was a true team effort against all the odds.”

THE RAID ON CAMP BASTION!

1 INTELLIGENCE

The insurgents monitor the base before the attack, watching incoming traffic and potential weak points.

2 ENTRANCE

Dressed in local attire, the 15 insurgents pass unarmed through the approaching highway.

3 GUN STASH

AK47 rifles and rocket-propelled grenades have been previously buried in the sand to retrieve.

4 WEAPONS PICKUP

Attackers dig under one section of 42km-perimeter fence in darkness to avoid detection.

5 AIRCRAFT ABLAZE

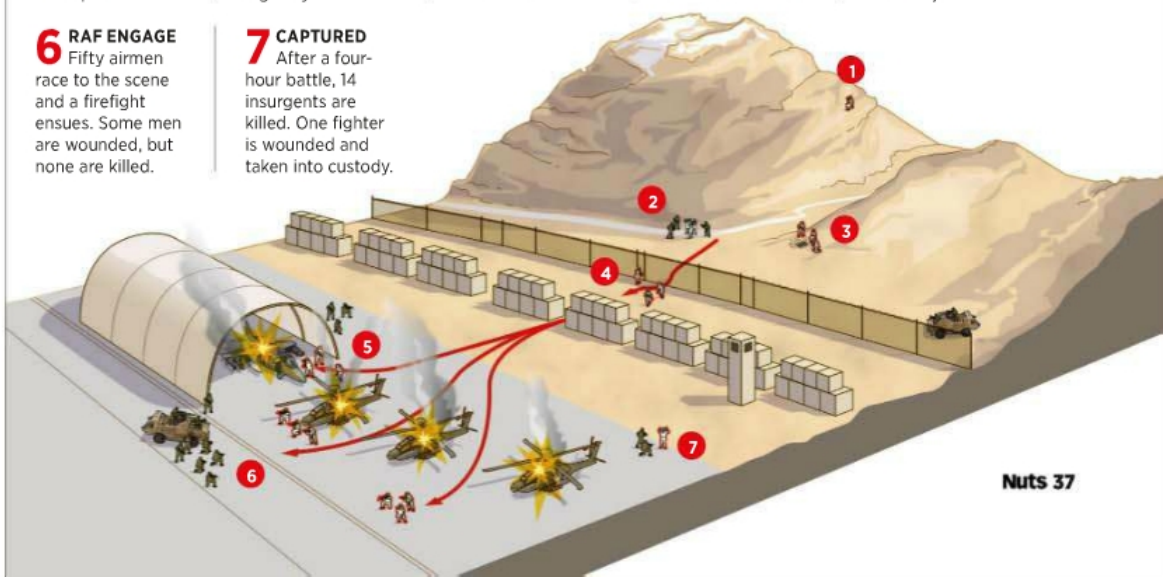

Using rockets and explosives, the insurgents destroy aircraft – including Harrier jets.

6 RAF ENGAGE

Fifty airmen race to the scene and a firefight ensues. Some men are wounded, but none are killed.

7 CAPTURED

After a four-hour battle, 14 insurgents are killed. One fighter is wounded and taken into custody.

RYAN GOSLING

The Place Beyond The Pines dude on how to woo the ladies, rob banks and ride motorbikes!

H ey Ryan! First off, did you really have to play yet another character that the girlfriends of Britain would all fall in love with?

Ha-ha! Yes. Luke. He's a melting pot of masculine clichés: muscles, tattoos, motorcycles, guns, knives. He's in some kind of motorcycle boy band in the early '90s, travelling around low-rent carnival circuits.

This movie is essentially you on a motorcycle, robbing banks... was that fun?

I've always had this fantasy about robbing banks, but I'm scared of jail. I'll never do it, but I would, if I didn't have to go to jail. We shot all the bank robberies in one take so I got to have as close to the real experience as possible, as close as I'm ever going to get. I got it out of my system. I'm too afraid of jail.

Did you have to learn any genuine "stick 'em up" tips?

I don't know if you know how it works – and I'm not condoning this or pushing it in any way – but banks have to give you the money. They're told to give it to you. All you have to do is ask for it. You don't have to have a gun. It's just safer all around and less time in jail. And all of the people we interviewed said that the ones that did it nicely got less time. So, you can get the money, it's just about how you get away with it. I had this fantasy that I would get on a motorcycle and drive into the back of a U-Haul [removal truck] parked around the corner, and they would be looking for a guy on a motorcycle, not a guy in a U-Haul...

You're sporting a pretty, um, distinguishing face tattoo there... were you tempted to keep it?

I regret the face tattoo. All the tattoos I wear in the movie – I don't know how necessary they are, but they were a part of trying to understand this character. What's interesting about working with Derek [Cianfrance, The Place Beyond The Pines director] is that you're not allowed to take your decisions lightly. They're permanent, and any step you take with your character, you have to embrace that. With the face tattoo, it was the last one applied, I felt like it was too much when it came down to it. I thought, "I don't want to have a tattoo on my face this whole movie. It's just going to be distracting. I think I've gone too far." And Derek said, "That's what happens when you get a face tattoo. That's how you feel. And now you're stuck with it." So then I had to go through the whole film having that tattoo on my face, and I regretted it the whole time. I was so ashamed I couldn't look

"Just nipping into town for some cat food"

"Wow! I love Nirvana, too!"

in the mirror. I just felt embarrassed.

You're pretty inked up yourself in real life. Do you regret any of your actual tattoos?

There are always stories behind them, but they are constantly evolving. You regret why you got them, so you change the meaning.

We see you crying quite a bit in this flick. Is this another ploy to get our lady folk to love you even more?

Ha! I didn't know that was going to happen. I was just sitting in the church watching a baby be baptised, and I don't know why I was emotional, but I was. First of all, that's due to the fact that the kid who plays my son as an infant – his name is Tony Pizza. It's hard not to like a guy named Tony Pizza. We really hit it off.

Did you actually have to learn all those awesome bike stunts?

Unfortunately, there were a lot of things with the bike that the stunt driver Rick Miller did. When Batman gets on a motorcycle in The Dark Knight films, that's Rick Miller in the suit. I hate to break it to you, it's not Batman. But Rick is the best there is. He and I rode motorcycles for a few months before-hand. It didn't feel like work. And he showed me the best that he could. But these things take a lifetime to learn. I did my best, but my best wasn't good enough!

Did you poo your pants the first time you got on the bike?

I think you need to be scared a little bit. Once you lose the fear, you got to get off it because then your mind starts to wander and you get in trouble. But when I was a kid, I was walking to school and saw this guy on a motorcycle get hit by a car. He was lying on the ground, and he had blood coming out of his head. And my first thought was, "I want a motorcycle." They put some kind of spell on you. It's dangerous.

Awesome! Thanks for the chat, Ryan. Finally then, Eva Mendes is your co-star in this flick. Can you tell us any cheeky stories about her?

None that I'd like to share with you. Ha-ha! ❌

MORTAL MADNESS!

Geordie Shore series six is being filmed in Australia and will hit MTV screens this summer.

HOLLY HAGAN

Hi Holly! How are you enjoying the shoot and – more importantly – your new boobs?

Hello! I'm loving it, but it's even more fun 'cos I've got my new boobs and everything's looking better! They're about three weeks old.

They look like they've grown!

Yes. Sort of. I used to be a FF but because I lost a bit of weight, they shrank, so they're back to a FF again. They're still a work in progress but I'm pleased at the minute.

What, so they'll be bigger?

No! I'm happy with them. I think Nuts readers will notice they're already bigger and rounder. So, yes, I hope they like them. A lot of effort has gone into these bad boys.

Whenever you see yourself in Nuts, do you fancy yourself?

It's crazy. I think, "Woo! Who's that girl?" Then I'm like, "Oh yeah, it's me!" It's always been my dream to be on the front of Nuts. Everyone told me I'd never do it. I bet they walk around Tesco, see me on the shelf and are absolutely gutted.

Do you still have to pinch yourself a bit?

I think I imagined it would be, "Oh my God, I'm on the front of Nuts!" But it's like, "Yeah, that's me." It doesn't sink in that it's me. I don't really get very excited by things on the whole. I'm not a very excitable person, if I'm honest.

Really? You Geordie Shore lot seem like the most easily excitable people on the planet!

Ha! But if someone's like, "It's Christmas next week," I'm like, "Whatever." I might say, "Yeah, I can't wait for the weekend," but really I could wait for the weekend. You know?

Er, OK! Do you have to be in a naughty mood to do a boobey shoot like this?

Ha-ha! I bet you want me to say something like, "Yeah, ►

HOLLY HAGAN

my dream to be on the cover of Nuts!”

“The Geordie Shore lot are dead supportive!”

I think of loads of dirty, sexy thoughts when I'm posing." But no, I don't. Normally I'm just thinking about my dinner.

What do the Geordie Shore lot make of you being in Nuts?

They all love it. They all tweet about it when it comes out and they're dead supportive and go out and buy it from the shops as soon as it hits the shelves.

Would you mind if the Geordie Shore boys stuck pictures of your boobs around the house?

I wouldn't be bothered. I get them out enough times in the house anyway.

Which other Nuts babes would you like to do a shoot with?

Lucy Pinder. She's stunning. She's been in Nuts for years, so she's part of the furniture now. It's very sexy furniture. To be honest, I probably wouldn't want to do a shoot with her because it would be far too sexy for me to handle.

Would you ever like to front a sassy, sexy redhead shoot?

Yeah. But aren't I the only one? I guess there's Lucy Collett. It's nice to be a bit different. It's nice having me on the cover with my red hair and tattoos. People seem to like it.

You're off to Australia to film the new series...

For Geordie Shore Down Under. I'm looking forward to it.

How are you going to get on with all those creepy-crawlies?

Ha-ha! I hate spiders. I don't know how I'm going to cope. It's little things I don't like.

So sharks are fair game?

Oh God, yeah, sharks are fine. I just don't like spiders. I'd rather be shut in a tank with a shark than with a spider.

Finally then, you'd be a bit rubbish on I'm A Celebrity...?

I'd be the worst! I'd end up like Helen Flanagan and be teased by the whole country, or faint like Gillian McKeith. People would think I'm a freak. ►

Ben Fogle: New Lives In The Wild

CHANNEL 5/HD • 9pm

Britain's favourite tea-drinking, acid-dropping (Google it) posho is travelling to far-flung places wearing khaki and jumpers that you can only pull off if you're somehow related to a duke, all in the name of meeting folk who've left civilization behind. Interesting.

★★★

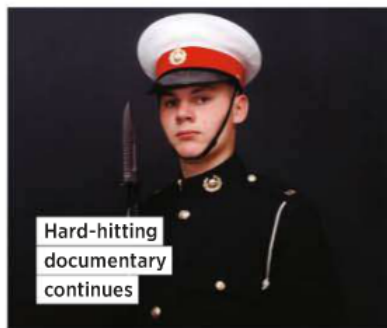

"Pick up that dog turd, you knave!"

Game Of Thrones

SKY ATLANTIC/HD • 9pm

If we could give this show six stars, we would. This week Arya gets to meet the leader of the hard-as-nails Brotherhood Without Banners. Meanwhile, across the Narrow Sea, Daenerys gets ever closer to being able to march on the mainland with her equally hard slave army. Unbelievable aceness.

Hard-hitting documentary continues

Battle Scarred: Nightmare On Civvy Street

CHANNEL 5/HD • 10pm

Cagefighting at Swindon leisure centre returns

Fear Factor

5* • 9pm

The Yank version of a show about making people do horrible things and facing their fears all for a bit of cash. In this one, we get to witness and revel in people locked in a cage underwater, while others dine on cockroaches with a side helping of maggots. Wouldn't they be better off just selling a kidney?

"This hot desking lark is getting silly"

Men At Work

FOX/HD • 10pm

A new Yank sitcom aimed more at us blokes than girls for a change. We follow four chaps who are all mates and work and party together. After one of the blokes Milo is dumped by his girlfriend, his mates do their best to make him forget his girl and meet new ones. It's not groundbreaking stuff but might raise the odd titter.

★★★

"For the last time, I am not the killer"

The Following

SKY ATLANTIC/HD • 10pm

The penultimate episode of this B movie-esque show has Joe Carroll spewing cheesy lines and constantly inept performance by the FBI, but still we watch. Religiously. Spot the common theme: the team get a lead, which Hardy follows up. They never send backup or SWAT, Hardy can't cope and the bad guys get away. Fools!

We can't believe Ben Elton penned this abysmal sitcom, about a council health and safety bloke. Too awful.

Sons Of Anarchy

SUSA • 10pm

We'd like to think that by the end of this series, Clay will be dead, for no TV character has deserved it more so. However when it comes time for the hangman's noose to be placed around his neck, Clay's given a reprieve by one of the Sons. Can he really make it out of this sh*tstorm alive? And is Tara going down at Otto's hands?

10 O'Clock Live

CHANNEL 4/HD • 10pm

We've lost track of the number of smart-arsed shows that poke fun at the week's news events, but 10 O'Clock Live is still one of the slicker ones on telly. Mitchell, Brooker, Laverne and Carr will be setting the world to rights in the only way they know how – with a collective frown and a hearty dose of dry humour.

Russell Brand: Right Here, Right Now

BBC THREE • 10pm

SKY MOVIES PREMIERE/HD • 8pm

A man-friendly romcom that's funny because it stars Jason Segel (Forgetting Sarah Marshall) who's likeable and Emily Blunt, who's rather attractive, as a couple who get engaged, but never seem to get wed. It is funny, if 40mins too long.

★★★★★

Swimming With Monsters: Steve Backshall

Russell Howard's Good News

BBC THREE • 10pm

This topical news ditty is BBC Three's most successful entertainment series, so Russell Howard's got a fair bit of "good news" for his bank manager. Anyway, he's back, and his team have been scouring the world for the most gag worthy of goings-on. Ace!

Nuts Games Deal or No Deal masterclass!

A host of hot tips to help you win big with Nuts Games!

YOU MAY think Deal or No Deal is a game for people who believe in "systems". But take it from us – the multi-line slot game certainly isn't!

You can win big from the comfort of your own home for as little as 5p, and if you play on all 20 pay lines, you could win a big progressive jackpot. One recent Nuts Games winner bagged himself a massive £171,715! Head to www.nutsgames.co.uk and start playing NOW!

How to play

- The aim is to get winning symbol combinations from each spin of the reels, with the ultimate target being the progressive jackpot.
- You can select up to 20p on each of the 20 pay lines. That gives you up to 20 chances to win on each play!
- The progressive jackpot can only be won on the Deal or No Deal bonus game, but there are also two other fun bonus games called Banker's Offer and Mystery Box Bonus, where you can also win extra cash!

Number lines

Click the number beside the reels, or the "Bet One" or "Bet Max" button. Choose Bet Max for the chance to play the bonus game and win big!

Bonus game

If you bet on all 20 pay lines and get three Deal or No Deal bonus symbols on any pay line, the bonus game begins – with the progressive jackpot at stake.

LADIES CONFESS!

TO OUR SECRETARY!

Racy revelations from our female readers!

CONFESSION OF THE WEEK!

'We experimented at uni'

I'VE BEEN shagging a guy at university who's in my chemistry group. One afternoon we'd screwed up a test and had to stay back after class. It was a hot day so I took my lab coat off. I looked up and noticed him staring at my hot breasts and from his bulging package I knew that he was turned on. He pushed me into a store cupboard and started kissing me. I unzipped his trousers to reveal his throbbing member and took him deep inside me. Rubbing my clit, we came together. I never knew chemistry could be so fun!

Carla Newcastle

'Bro's pal was game'

LAST YEAR, my brother and his mates had got into this new Xbox game and played it day and night. A new friend had joined them who was very sexy. They cleared off upstairs to play their games, but the sexy boy came down to ask about drinks and followed me to the kitchen. As we both reached for the fridge, our hands and eyes met. I looked down to see his stiffy bulging against his jeans. I unzipped them and eased it out. I got down on my hands and knees and put it in my mouth, working my way up and down his shaft. When it was over, I walked away smiling, leaving him wanting more!

Melanie West Sussex

'I kept my thong on'

MY BOYFRIEND'S old uni mate was staying at ours and the boys decided to go to a strip bar for a laugh and they invited me along. I paid to watch a girl do a full nude dance for my chap and it seemed to get me hot under the collar. When we got home, we were all very drunk. My man's friend had fallen asleep on the sofa, so I got on top of my boyfriend and started to dance and tease him like the girls in the club. Soon I was stripping in front of him, leaving just my thong and platform heels on. I unzipped his hard member and took his whole length in my mouth. I felt his hand on my bottom and his fingers lacing around the string of my knickers. I teased and sucked him until he was ready to explode. As I sat in his lap for the final strokes, I looked over at the sofa and saw his mate with one eye open. I think he preferred my floorshow that night!

Carly Brighton

'Security man caught us'

MY FRIEND was showing me around the department store where she worked. Feeling fruity, she took me to a room where we could get naughty. Giggling, she grabbed my hand and ran towards the door. I was wet with anticipation. As soon as we entered, her hands were all over me. She sat on a box and opened her legs, and I started touching her while her hand went up my skirt. Just as things were hotting up, the door swung open and in walked a security guard who told us that he'd been watching our antics on CCTV. We were asked to leave, but I'm sure that tape has been played over and over again!

Charlotte

1 Where's the strangest place you've had sex?

"I've had sex in some rather odd places in my time, but a maze has to be the strangest place of all. It was a bit freaky!"

2 What's your trademark move in the bedroom?

"My trademark move is my cowgirl routine. I love being on top, and it also means that you have the chance to show your man a thing or two while you're performing!"

3 What really turns you on?

"A man who knows how to cook. The only condition is that he has to be cooking topless! That'll guarantee he gets a treat in return in the bedroom later."

4 What's your favourite position?

"I love being thrown about. Legs over the shoulders is the best position ever in my opinion. I'm very flexible."

5 Is it better to give or to receive?

"It's always best to give, because a man should always be given the occasional treat, I think!"

6 What one thing would you like to try but haven't yet?

"I would really like to have sex in a hot tub. How romantic would that be? Plus, it would make things even hotter and wetter."

7 Ever got it on with another girl?

"Yes, on a drunken night out in town once. I got involved in a lovely three-way kiss with two of my female friends. And I would do it again anytime. I loved it!"

8 What's your role-playing costume of choice?

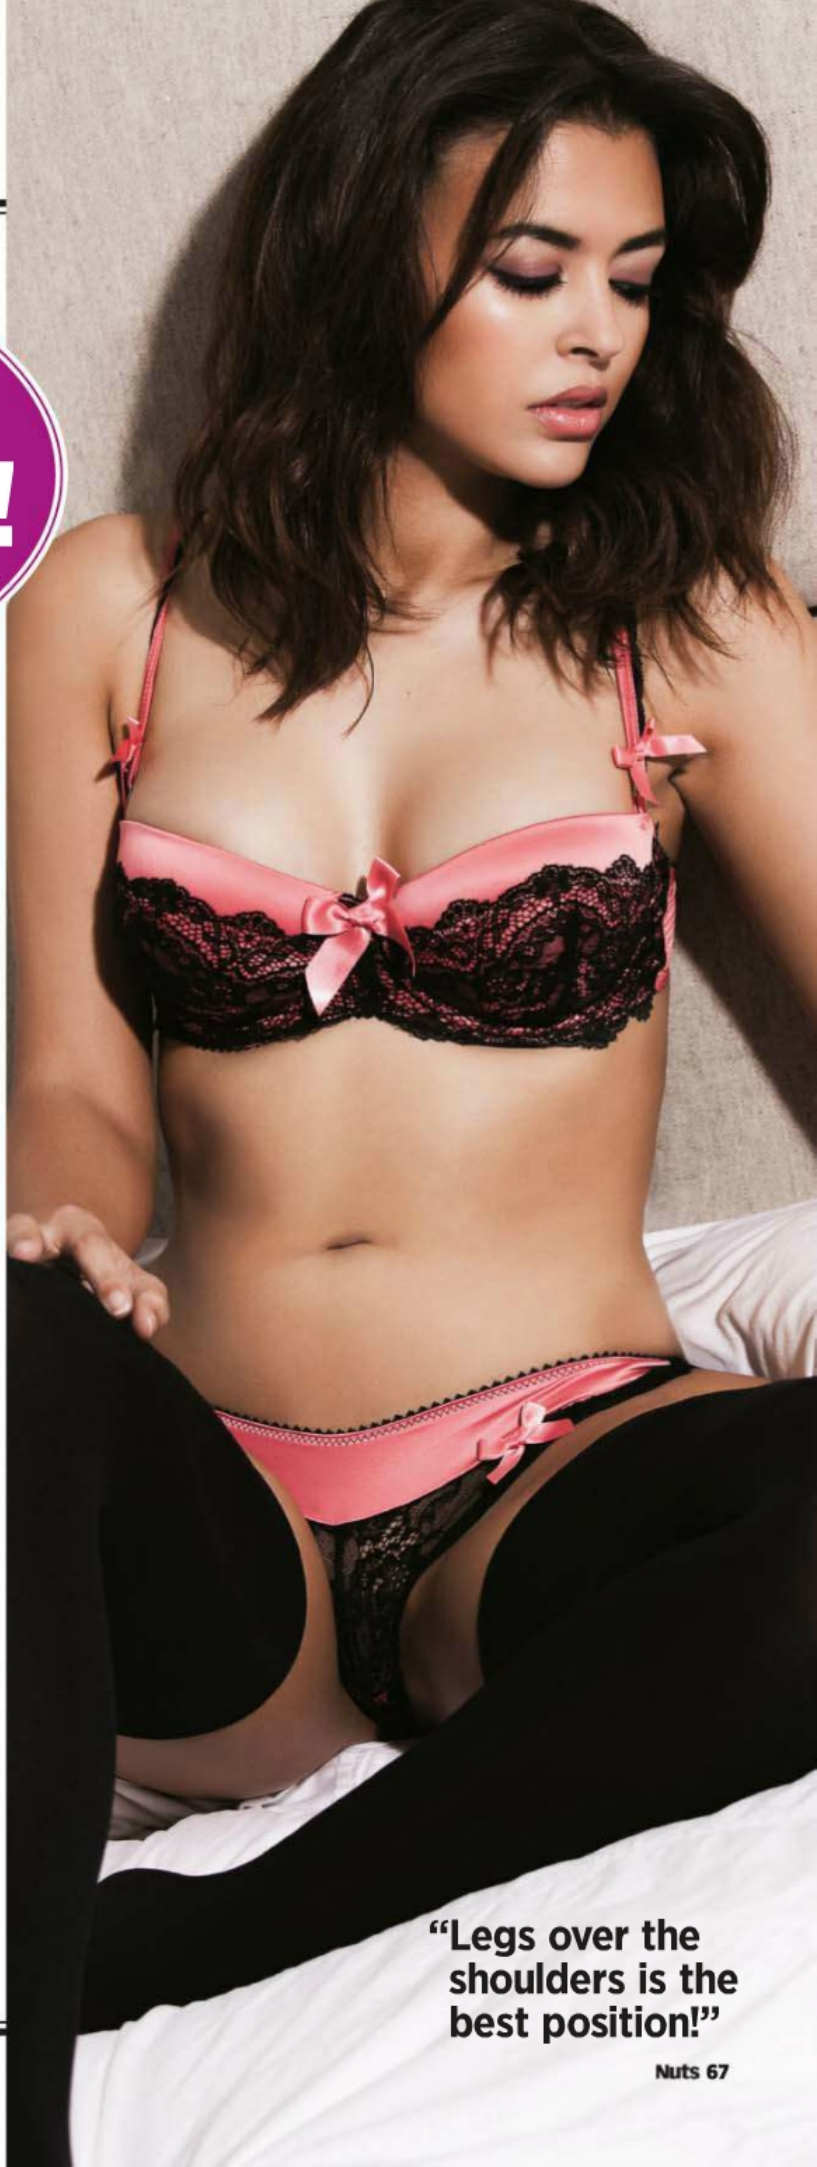

"A nurse's outfit is my costume of choice, as it means I can be in control of my naughty patient."

9 Have you ever made a sex tape?

"I'm usually a good girl, but behind closed doors, I can be a little bit naughty – especially when a camera is involved!"

10 What's the rudest thing you've ever done?

"The rudest thing I've ever done is flash my boobs at a security guard as an initiation ritual for my cheerleading team."

"Legs over the shoulders is the best position!"

NUTS INVESTIGATION!

QPR's Sinking Ship!

Paul Merson on what's gone wrong at Rangers!

DESPITE INVESTING millions in new players and two high-profile managers, this campaign has been a disaster for big spenders QPR. Why has it gone so badly? Paul Merson highlights the key factors that have wrecked the dreams of the Loftus Road faithful...

Tony Fernandes, QPR's well-meaning chairman, has spent nearly £45m since the start of the season.

1 HUGHES' ARROGANCE!

"Mark Hughes came out with a terrible statement after their defeat by Man City last year: 'QPR will never be in this position again.' That was my worry. Then you think they're a 'stay up' team, but the ground holds 20,000, so they can't live with the big boys. QPR fans knew this, I'm not sure Mark did."

Frenchman Loic Remy was QPR's record buy at £8m and is reported to be on £80k a week.

2 THEIR AWFUL START!

"In the Premier League, unless you're a top five or six team, you have a bad start and you're down the bottom for the rest of the season. QPR lost 5-0 to Swansea on the opening day. You look at the fixture list and then there's Man City or Man United coming up. It's ruthless."

3 HUGHES' BAD BUYS!

"Hughes bought a lorry load of individual footballers, a lot of whom had not played in the Premier League before. He hadn't bought a team. It was a case of: 'Buy them and sort it out when they're all in.' Look at the players Harry has brought in since, they're 100 times better than Hughes'."

4 DITCHING OLD FAVES!

"Hughes discarded players like Sean Derry and Clint Hill, but you need players who will run through a brick wall for you. It's alright having a load of flair players in the team, but it's not the job of people coming from Real Madrid to steam through people and get the crowd going. It's about balance."

MERSON'S SEEN IT ALL BEFORE!

As Walsall manager from 2004 to 2006, Paul knows a thing or two about tough relegation battles.

5 ILL-ADVISED OWNER!

"Tony Fernandes means well - he's a fan and he's put money where his mouth is. We can all spend everyone else's cash, but often managers overwhelm owners because they know more about the game. The owner needs a right-hand man to say, 'No, this player's not good enough.'"

6 TAARABT MISFIRING!

"Adel Taarabt was the main reason QPR got promoted from the Championship in 2011 - he was absolutely brilliant. Yet in the Premier League he's been unimpressive. That's not his fault - put him in a better team and he might be better, but he doesn't do it enough in this league."

Joey Barton's £80k-a-week wages prove his worth. As the fans of his loan club Marseilles will attest to.

Adel Taarabt, once the goal-poaching king of the Championship, has scored just five times this season.

Harry Redknapp set a target of five wins from their last eight games, when they'd only won four all season.

Bobby Zamora, sent off in the hugely damaging 1-1 draw with Wigan, joined for £6million in Feb 2012.

Shaun Wright-Phillips recently joined fellow striker Andy Johnson on the treatment table.

Julio Cesar has been one of the few successes, keeping £50k-a-week Rob Green on the bench.

Chris Samba told fans to get over his reported £80k-a-week wages after they lost 3-2 at Fulham.

QPR in numbers

The stats that damn the Rs

- Mark Hughes signed goalie Rob Green, then bought Julio Cesar just two matches into the season. The pair are reported to be on £150,000 a week between them.
- The spend on wages at QPR went from £27.6m to £56m in the year to 31 May 2012.
- Debts have jumped 57 per cent to nearly £90m. The club have reported a loss of £22.6m.
- Joey Barton is on a four-year deal worth £80,000 a week - he's currently on loan at Marseilles.
- The total games played by QPR's 13 paid-for signings since Fernandes took over is 175. The same players have missed a combined total of 241 matches.
- They broke their transfer record twice in January: first with £8m on Loic Remy, then £12m on striker Christopher Samba.

BOXING SPECIAL!

Cleverly: 'I love being at the top!'

Welsh whirlwind Nathan Cleverly chats to Nuts as he prepares to defend his WBO title!

➔ Hi Nathan! How's training going for your WBO Light Heavyweight title defence against Robin Krasniqi?

Great! I was well on track before the postponement of our fight on 16 March so that gave me an extra five weeks. I've had to make sure I don't overcook it!

It was postponed because another boxer on the bill got food poisoning. How annoying was that?

I was a bit disappointed, yeah. That's boxing, though. You have to deal with these unusual circumstances now and again.

What sort of a boxer is Robin Krasniqi?

He's a real good fighter! He's won his last 38 fights so he'll be hungry and keen to win this world title of mine. He's knocked out his last four opponents so he's a big puncher. I know he thinks he can take me out! You'll see him come forward at me and I'll be standing there in front of him. You won't be seeing anyone on their back foot, that's for sure!

As the main guy with Frank Warren now, do you feel any added pressure to perform?

Not really. As you move up the boxing ladder, you're expected to win. In fact, I enjoy the pressure. If you want to be a top fighter, you've got to deal with that – it's part of the job.

You're a maths graduate as well as a boxer. What do you miss about being a student?

I wouldn't say I miss it because at the time I was doing exams and boxing at the same time, which was unbelievably time-consuming. One thing about being a student is there's no pressure on you for a few years and you're just hanging out with your friends. I guess I miss the relaxed nature of it but you have to move on from that and enter the real world.

Thanks, Nathan! Finally, are you close to that "super fight" with Bernard Hopkins?

I believe so. If I get past this fight OK, I'll be a step closer to Hopkins. He's keener on the fight now because he's got the IBF world title and I've got the WBO belt so it'll be a good unification fight. Hopefully we can start negotiating after Saturday.

● Cleverly vs Krasniqi, live and exclusive on BoxNation (Sky Ch.437/Virgin Ch.546) Saturday, 20 April. Info at www.boxnation.com

WORLD CHAMPION!

The Krasniqi fight will be Nathan's fourth title defence as WBO Light Heavyweight champion.

"You won't see me on the back foot against Krasniqi!"

Nathan Cleverly

"Ugh! I hate it when they dribble on me!"

Nathan's title defences

The challengers the WBO champ's seen off so far

OCT 2011: TONY BELLEW

Cleverly's first defence saw him beat the Liverpoolian on points, with one judge scoring it dead level.

FEB 2012: TOMMY KARPENCY

Nathan keeps the title in Wales with a unanimous points decision.

NOV 2012: SHAWN HAWK

No need for the judges as Cleverly stops the Yank, also known as the "Sioux Warrior", in the eighth.

"Will someone give me a quick squirt of Lynx Africa, please?"

Fury: 'I'm the main man!'

Tyson Fury plans to take America by storm!

Hi Tyson! How are you doing?

I'm doing sh*t! Nah, only joking I'm good thanks, how's Nuts magazine doing?

Great, thanks! Your next bout is the IBF Heavyweight title eliminator fight in New York on Saturday night. Looking forward to it?

I'm very much looking forward to it! Ever since the press conference in New York I've been enjoying it, so things are all good.

You've been training in Canada. Why?

It's in the same time zone as New York and the resort is tucked away, so I'm able to focus on my training which is the main thing.

Is your opponent Steve Cunningham going to be easy to defeat?

Well, it'll only last as long as it takes me to land a few big shots on him, then it'll be over. I don't think he can take my punches. The guy's not really a heavyweight so we'll see how he copes when he gets hit. I'm going for a knockout!

He says the only reason you win fights is because you're tall. What do you say to that? It's lucky I'm tall then, isn't it? I think he's taking the fight seriously though, as this is his biggest fight and his biggest payday.

Fellow Brit heavyweight David Price got knocked out by Tony Thompson. How did you feel about that?

It saved me a job! Good riddance to him though. He's out of the way now and that knockout proved that I was right all along when I said he was no good. There's only one man in town and that's me!

You were fined for comments you made about Price. Will you pipe down a bit now?

No, I'm not bothered. Fining me won't stop me speaking my mind or being myself!

● Fury vs Cunningham is live on Channel 5 from 9.30pm this Saturday, 20 April.

KAMMY!

He's the voice of the fans – and he's only in Nuts!

"What? It's just a scarf!"

Mancini: not good enough!

The Man City manager is defiant, but it's been a poor season!

➔ ROBERTO MANCINI says City can win the league next season, but he has to face it – this term's not been good enough. If the owners are willing to stand by him he's got one more year, but City should have dominated English football for ever and a day. So what went wrong?

City should've bought players like United or Barça. They didn't – and that's down to the manager. The City players would've welcomed some new faces and a strengthened squad, but the likes of Rodwell and Sinclair just haven't played.

He's been backed by the owners, too – the only thing he could say was that he didn't get his targets, but whose fault is that? Sir Alex Ferguson doesn't lose out on his targets, so Mancini can't blame other people for this failure.

It's not about splits in the squad, it's just they haven't been good enough. City haven't handled the pressure of being champs.

And Mancini knows it.

In the close season, he had a second job as a cricket umpire

Where next for Rafa Benitez?

IT'S BEEN a difficult few months for Rafa Benitez – now his future comes down to how Chelsea have performed by the end of the season. If he fails to qualify for the Champions League then that's a blow, but if he wins the Europa League that's another feather in his cap. Teams in England will see the hostility he's had at Chelsea, so if he wins a trophy that will be appreciated – and certain teams will be eyeing him up.

There's a shortage of big people to take over at clubs, so Rafa will always be in demand. If Jose Mourinho leaves Real Madrid, and Benitez wins trophies at Chelsea, then he could go there. Whatever happens, though, I'm certain he'll be alright.

GOAL-LINE TECH

It's coming to the Premier League and will add to the drama of games – just don't use it for anything else. Football doesn't need it.

UNBELIEVABLY BAD!

EXTRA OFFICIALS

The ones you get in the Champions and Europa Leagues are pointless. They don't get involved and won't make a decision. A waste of time.

Phil's a bit brill!

IT'S SAD Phil Neville is leaving Everton. The former Man United man has been a great servant of English football, as his career at Goodison has proved. A lot of players who leave Old Trafford don't play as well elsewhere, but Fergie would probably say he should have kept Phil.

The Neville brothers are well thought of at the FA – Gary is an England coach and Phil's worked with the U21s. He'll stay in football. And that's great for the game.

"If you're happy and you know it..."

ASK KAMMY!

If you could play for any present team, which one would it be?

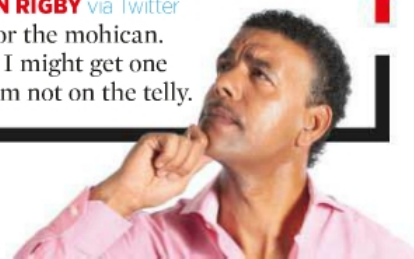

KARL WYLIE via Twitter

I'd go for Swansea – they're not expected to win and they play good football. If I'm fantasising, it'd be Barcelona!

If you had to have one of Beckham's haircuts, what would it be?

KEEGAN RIGBY via Twitter

I'd go for the mohican. In fact, I might get one when I'm not on the telly.

GOAL OF THE SEASON!

Whoever wins it this year, their effort has to be better than that of Zlatan Ibrahimovic's stunning 35-yard overhead kick against England. Is that possible?
